

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Code quantity control based on a virtual buffer is executed by using information extracted from picture compressed information conforming to a predetermined system. Thus, a reference quantization scale can be held at a fixed value throughout a frame. As a result, it is possible to generate picture compressed information having a smaller code quantity.